NUMB. 5055

MONDAY, JULY 1, 1745.

Our last arrived the Mails due from Holland and Flanders.

Petersburgh, June 15.

H. E. Baron de Cedernereutz, Minister from Sweden, has had his Audience of Leave; but, at the Request of their Imperial Highnesses, has deferred his Departure till after the Celebration of their Marriages. It is impossible to express the Earnestness and Affinity with which the Ministers contracting in the Treaty of War pushed their Scheme of engaging the Czarina to that Treaty. Count Bestucheff has, however, given them her Majesty's final Answer, which was to the Effect; viz. 'That she was glad to see the Victory which they expressed for restoring the Peace of Europe; and that she would endeavour to imitate the same, without multiplying her Engagements.' The March of the Troops have been never repeated; for the Czarina's determined, by the 1st July, to have an Army of 60,000 Men ready to march; and a Fleet of Thirty Sail of the Line ready to sea. Her Majesty has exactly the Spirit of her Father; and as she is the Mother of all her People, she is so in a peculiar manner to the Seamen. A few Days ago she drove, with her own Hand, the Nail in an Eighty Gun Ship upon the Stocks: Immediately after a new Sixty Gun Ship was launched, to which at the Instant of going off, she gave the Name of Barbara. She afterwards supp'd on board it, with the Court; and was saluted at her going off at Petersburg with all the Artillery. It is impossible to express the great Satisfaction her Conduct inspires in all her People; for she is indeed the supreme Glory of the Imperial Race, an Honour to her Sex, and the Blessing of her Subjects.

June 22. The Envoy from the Regency of Egypt has taken his Leave, and a Frigate is order'd to carry him Home; which Frigate is also to bring back the Prince Successor, and said, 'Sir, I leave the Kingdom with Pleasure, since Affairs are left solely to your Absence.' To which his Highness answered, 'I want Words to express the Regret I feel in seeing this Capital deprived of my Father, and the Father of his Country.'

June 20. We are in high Spirits here, on account of a very gallant Action performed by the Chevalier de Manteuffel. He was ordered with a Detachment of regular Troops and Militia to guard the Passages of Salsburg; but seeing a fair Opportunity, advanced with part of his Troops to Ventimiglia, which he enter'd on Monday, set Fire to all the Magazines there, and sent off a Corps of 60 French Soldiers, with their Arms, who were left to guard them. This must necessarily prove a very unlucky Affair to the Enemy, and retard their March some Weeks; since it is certain that the adjacent Country cannot furnish the French with any Subsistence. We learn here with Satisfaction, an extraordinary Mark of the Count's Conduct, and Politeness of the new English Commander, who, on the Approach of the Royal Infant Philip, sent to assure him, that he would pay all possible Respect to his Person; and accordingly hoisted his Ships, hoisted all his Flags, Colours, and Banners, and saluted him with a general Salvo of his Cannon and Small Arms; which had such an Effect, that the Royal Highness sent to compliment him, and invite him to Dinner; which the Commodore accepted in the softest Terms possible; and his Highness followed very briskly, by which they have lost 5 or 6 Men; and he has gained the Reputation of discharging his Duty as a fine Gentleman, and a good Officer; and which is more extraordinary, has gained at the good Will of his Royal Highness, and the Affection of his Majesty, our Sovereign.

June 24. Count Francis de St. Ignon, Lieutenant-Field-Marshal in the Queen of Hungary's Service, died here on the 19th, of the Wounds he received in the Action of Friedberg, notwithstanding all the Care that could be taken of him. The Queen has lost a very gallant and experienced Officer. He was buried here on the 21st with all the Military Pomp possible; three Brass Field-Pieces were carried to the Grave, the Garison of this Place was under Arms, and after a Funeral Oration to the Honour of the Deceased, the Body was put into the Ground under a triple Discharge of the Cannon and Musquetry.

Semenitz, June 15. On Friday last we encamped at Jaromitz, between the Motta and the Elbe, and the Head Quarters were at Pleiss; in which Situation we remained the 12th, 13th, and 14th.

The 12th the Enemy's advanced Guard, consisting of 13,000 Men, marched to the Plain near Scallitz.

The 13th they marched to Nachod, which they pillaged, as they had done Braunsau the Day before: They also made several other Motions; notwithstanding which, General Wallis remained with his Advanced Guard at Scallitz, as did General Nidast with his at Neustadt.

The 15th we changed our Camp, repass'd the River Motta, and encamped very advantageously, the Head Quarters being fixed at Semenitz. The same Day 3000 Foot, and 500 Horse, joined us from Carlitz; who, together with the Militia of the Banat, the Transylvanians, and other Irregular Troops, under the Command of Baron St. Andre, Colonel of the Regiment of Bottaguard the Trees that were cut down in the Neighbourhood of Oppothna, Dobruka, and other Places in the Mountains.

We received Yesterday a Reinforcement of Artillery, and two Battalions of the Regiment of Patz. The Regiments of Damnitz and Bareyth, with the Remainder of the Battalions who were ranfomed from the French, are also in full March; and a considerable Train of Artillery is coming from Olmitz, Brynn, and Vienna.

Mentz, June 22. The Prince of Conti has demanded 200 Waggons from the Elector of Mentz's Bailiffs; and it is said he will descend from his present Situation to Gros Gerau, in order to defend the Lower Mayn. We have Advice this Morning from Worms, that the French Hospital, Surgeons, &c. began their March Yesterday from that Neighbourhood towards their Army; from whence we infer here, that the Prince of Conti intends to wait for Marshal Traun. As to their Magazines, it is not above five or six Days since they employ'd 900 Waggons to transport all the Forage which they had laid up in the Neighbourhood of Worms and Spire to Landau; but within these two Days they have brought back a good deal of it.

Vienna, June 26. The Duke of Aremberg and Prince Lobkowitz arrived here the Day before Yesterday. The first is talked of for the Government of Milan; the other sets out in a Day or two to serve as General of Horse under Prince Charles. The Austrians and Piedmontese have taken the important Post of Novi, in order to stop the easiest Passage thro' which the Enemy could hope to penetrate by the Buchetta into Lombardy. We are assured here, that M. de Gages, and M. de Maillebois's whole Force, if united, will not exceed 50 or 52,000 Men. It is said here, that Prince Charles has been obliged to remove his Head Quarters to Pardubitz.

Berlin, June 29. We have Advice from Bohemia, of the 21st, that his Prussian Majesty was that Day with his whole Army near Koniggratz; and that General Nidast was posted thereabouts with 8000 Men, in order to cover that Town, whilst the main Body of the Combined Army was retiring towards Pardubitz, whither they had transported their Magazines. It is reported here, that the Avant Guard of the Magdebourg Corps is marched to a Place called Groslogk, in the Neighbourhood of Halle; and that the main Body of that Army will very shortly follow that Corps, under the Command of the Reigning Prince of Dessau.

From the Head Quarters of his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, at Grandmont, July 4. On the 1st of this Month his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, attended by Field-Marshal Count Konigsfeger, went to observe the Motions of the Enemy, upon Advice that they had advanced as far as Leuze, in six Columns; and on their Return, the Baggage was ordered to Ninoc, and the Troops under Arms. The Prince of Waldeck, who remained at Lessines, quitted his Quarters, and came and encamped in our Neighbourhood, extending the Front of our Army to Gimerage, to which Place the heavy Baggage was gone. Yesterday his Royal Highness went to reconnoitre the French in their Camp at Lessines, and had soon after Intelligence that they had occupied that of Cambren; upon which, Brigadier Semple, with two English Battalions, threw themselves into Aeth, and a Detachment of 6000 Men of our Troops advanced to Soignies. A few Hours after, we had Intelligence that a great Corps of the Enemy, commanded by Count Lowendahl, had taken Post at Bray, near Binche; and that a Part of his Troops had advanced to Gosselies and Niedches, where they excited heavy Contributions in Money and Provisions. This Moment we have an Account that Aeth is completely invested; and it is already confirmed to us by the Thunder of the Cannon from thence.

Brussels, July 6. The Count de Cointz has held several Councils of State, to which all the Ministers were admitted; and Yesterday a Council was held, in order to take the necessary Precautions for the Security of this City. We have received by an Express from Ostend, the News of a very gallant Action of the English Commodore, Lord George Graham, on the Dunkirk Station. He has forced on Shore two stout Privateers, and four Prizes; the third Privateer was so hard pressed, that the Crew took to their Boats. The Commandant did all in his Power to assist the English, who fought like Devils. The French Officers behaved very gallantly, and did not strike till the Blood run thro' their Scuppers. This Affair will give a great Check to the Dunkirk People; for who would take Prizes, when it is impossible to bring them in; as it will be, while this Englishman continues upon the Station.

Hague, July 2. We have Advice from Brest, of the 17th inst, that M. Guerin, Captain of a Ship in the French King's Service, was arrived there from Cape Breton, which Place he left the 16th of April last. The said Captain reports, that an English Fleet of six Men of War, and 40 Transports, were at that Time lying before Louisbourg, and that it was thought that Fort would not hold out many Days. He further adds, that he left the Vigilant, a French Ship of 64 Guns, engaged with three English Men of War on the 22d of May.

Hague, July 7. We have Advice from Venice, that 10,000 Tartars have marched directly to Constantinople, with four Horses each in his Hand; what Mischief they will do the Persians is uncertain; but there is no sort of doubt, but they have destroyed all the Country in their March, without the least Regard to the Orders of the Porte. As to the Shah Nadir, he has taken care to destroy all the Country on his Side; by which Means he has gained two Advantages; one, that he remains constantly in a Posture of Defence; and the other, that the Enemy have a Desert to pass thro'. According to our last Advices from Vienna, the Grand Duke of Tuscany was to set out on the 28th of June for the Army on the Rhine, having received the strongest Assurances from the Elector of Cologne, of his Fidelity to his Engagements. The last Letters from Dresden say, that the Prussians are retired again into Silesia; but we have Reason to believe this is a Political Piece of News; since we have Intelligence from Bohemia directly, that the Austrians are retired to Pardubitz, and that the Prussians are Masters of Koniggratz. We are extremely pleased here at the Arrival of a Prussian Minister, tho' he has only the Title of Resident, and has brought with him abundance of Complaints. His Prussian Majesty, it seems, takes it very ill we have not sent a Minister since the Return of M. Ginkel from his Court; and is likewise greatly offended at the Liberties taken with his Majesty by some of our News Writers, of which the Abbe de la Ville has likewise complained; and it is thought, that some Satisfaction will be given in this Respect to the Courts of Paris and Berlin for the future. According to our Letters from Franckfort, the French Ministers take a great deal of Pains to prove that the Approach of the Austrian Army is much more prejudicial to the Freedom of the Election; than the Neighbourhood of the French; and the Reason they give, is, that the Austrians come avowedly to espouse the Interest of a certain Candidate; whereas the French declare in favour of none. We are very attentive at present to the News from all Quarters, as Things are every where at a Crisis; and as we are morally certain, that the Military Operations of this Summer, will oblige all Parties to think of a Peace in the Winter; but upon what Terms, is in the Womb of Time.
